Dear Shareholder

Amazon Spring Water – Shareholder Update

As a letter of courtesy, the Directors of Amazon Spring Waters Investment Ltd (“ASWI”) have asked Optiva Securities (“Optiva”) – ASWI’s Corporate Broker – to provide an update for shareholders on the proposed Initial Public Offering (IPO) process.

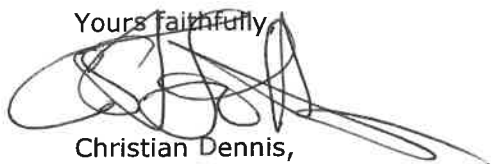

Firstly, we confirm that Optiva has a signed Corporate Broker agreement with ASWI to deliver the pre-IPO analysis and valuation work, as well as the IPO work relating to ASWI’s intention to List on a London stock market; this was originally intended to be completed by the end of calendar Q1-22.

Given the unforeseen consequences of Russia’s invasion of Ukraine however, with the impact of this upon stock market and commodity market sentiment and thus prices, the risks of pressing on with an IPO completion date by the end of March-22 have risen significantly. As a result, we believe that it is prudent to delay the IPO date until the end of the second quarter (Q2-22) when we hope that markets will have stabilised and ASWI should be in a position to proceed with the IPO as the Prospectus will have been approved.

In Summary

Optiva Securities believes that Water as a global resource is becoming increasingly scarce and thus increasingly valuable. Given ASWI’s extensive Brazilian water resource, it makes good sense to act to finance the development of ASWI’s global water distribution aspirations. Further, given the potential scale and expected reliability of bottled water distribution sales revenues, ASWI’s business is suited to becoming that of a stock market Listed company.

Yours faithfully,

Christian Dennis,
CEO, Optiva Securities
